

Geopolitical Workshop with George Friedman (Geopolitical Futures)

Budapest, 21 September 2018

George Friedman, geopolitical forecaster and strategist, the founder of Geopolitical Futures, is in partnership with the Social Futuring Center of Corvinus University of Budapest. The purposes of this partnership are to further develop jointly the conceptual and normative framework of social futuring, to construct the Social Futuring Index and to manage the ConNext 2050 research project.

The Center organized a geopolitical workshop on 21 September 2018, in order to develop the ecological-geopolitical pillar of the Social Futuring Index. George Friedman shared his ideas concerning the principles and concept of his planned geopolitical index, after which the participants discussed and identified the possible relations between the geopolitical index and the social futuring index from normative and conceptual points of view.

